Cagers Finish

The 1979-80 men's basketball team finished ninth in the nation, the best a Lincoln College squad has done in the 115-year history of the school.

Coach Al Pickering's crew took a season record of 21-7 into the sectional tournament to begin their drive to the National Junior College Athletic Association tournament in Hutchinson, Kan. After winning the sectional in Belleville, the Lynx moved to the state tournament in Danville, where they beat Kennedy-King College, 86-78, for the state championship.

From the state tournament, the Lynx trekked to Dowagiac, Mich., where they had their closest call, beating Vincennes, Ind., 76-74, for the right to play in Hutchinson for everything.

They started well, zonking Cloud County (Kan.) Community College by 89-77. But a national title wasn't in the cards as the Lynx fell in their next game to a tall and heavy Western Texas College squad, 100-79.

In their final game of the 1979-80 season, the Lynx went against Community College of Baltimore for the right to advance and compete for the fifth spot in the nation.

Ninth In Nation

Our guys held a 31-27 halftime edge, but eventually lost a heartbreaker when Eddie Jones's 18-foot shot at the buzzer rimmed the basket and spun away.

Lincoln College averaged 84.7 points per game this season and ended with an overall record of 28-9.

Jones was the leading scorer with 626 points, which translates into a hefty 17.3 points per game.

Fred Watkins was second with 567 points (19.5 per game) and was far and away the team's leading rebounder. He had 255 in regular season competition.

Right behind in the scoring department was Julius Poinsette. He tallied 565 for a 15.2 average and was the leader in assists with a whopping 160.

Rounding out the top five scorers were Captain Dan Pitchers (333), and Mike Goeken (176).

For what was supposed to be a "rebuilding year," the 1979-80 Lynx were nothing short of magnificent.

Coach Cyndi Slayton's Lady Lynx amassed a 21-5 regular season record this year and upped it to 23-5 with two wins in the sectional tourney, 68-43 over Belleville and 85-45 over Lewis & Clark.

Advancing to the state tournament, the Lady Lynx put in a hard-fought game, but finally lost their opening contest to a powerful Illinois Central

REGISTRATION

The year began, as usual, with registration, a highlight of which was a reception for students and parents at the home of President Brummet. Three attractive students, and two just as attractive dorm directors (plus a wrestling coach's wife) relaxed on the front steps. At springtime registration in late April, Dorr Simer, part-time instructor of agri-business, helped students plan their workload. Clockwise from Simer are Jeff Gaither, Bill Geiger, Ricky Freed and Darwin Runyon.

Registration also included drinks and munchies for the weary parents, as well as some tiring moments for the registration team of (from left) Debbie Reynolds, Marlene Schrader and Debbie Harrison. Students also got their fill at a cookout behind Forsythe Hall.

PARENTS' WEEKEND

Not every student's favorite Saturday, but still serving a useful purpose, Parents' Weekend was held the first weekend in November. Jan Sisk (1.) and Debbie Reynolds handled the registration chores in University Hall, while an interested father and his son conferred with the latter's advisor, Dr. James Fulcher, associate professor of English.

HOMECOMING

Homecoming 1979 saw the Lynx basketball team open their season with a resounding 87-71 win over Illinois Central College and the selection of Tyrone Parker and Sue Maher as the Homecoming

COMMENCEMENT

What college is all about, of course, is represented on these two pages. Led by Darwin Runyon, the graduates pass Johnston Center on their way to the Davidson-Sheffer gym, where a throng of faculty, trustees and proud parents wait. Probably proudest of all was Mrs. Vicki L. Harbach, valedictorian, as she accepts her diploma from President Brummet. After it was all over, Mr. and Mrs. Lerone Bennett Jr. (he gave the commencement address) chatted with H. Safford Peacock, chairman of the board of trustees.

Fine arts involves much more than plays, of course, things like the Lincoln College Jazz Band under the direction of Harry Hild. There were the Lincoln College dancers, ably directed by Berna Deane Grimm. From left are DelRita Sidberry, Cindy Robinson, Mark Hunt, Paul Lawson, Rocki Hayden and Vivian Williams. Jill Ellis and Judy O'Connell were still in the dressing room when photo was taken.

Doris Stone, associate professor of history at Illinois Central College, displayed artwork from the People's Republic of China during her spring visit to campus. Peter Sharpham and his wife, Pru, relaxed with sons Laef (l.) and Eric during his year-long stay as a dorm director before returning to his native Australia. Folksinger Erin Isaac chatted with a visitor to her April concert, and Bill Ritter, political science student of Dr. Joe DiLillo, discussed ways to reduce the Illinois Legislature in a "guest appearance" before DiLillo's class.
